Useful websites

Let's Talk About It – preventing people becoming terrorists. www.ltai.info
New revamped site is much more interactive and has a more accessible feel. It's also more visual, with a new combination of illustration and photography. The aim of the site is to give people a clear and better understanding of both Prevent and Channel, while providing signposting and support for people who are concerned that someone they know may be vulnerable to radicalisation. The site also contains useful information around how to spot the signs that someone may be being radicalised and provides tips on how you can protect yourself.
